Welcome!

Tyrol's Inn Valley was formed by Alpine glaciers a long time ago. Extensive valley and low mountain range landscapes nestle between striking characteristic mountain features. Dense forests, fairytale meadows and dreamy sunny villages make the low mountain ranges in Tyrol a paradise for all nature lovers.

Here in the sunny low mountain ranges, far from all main roads and yet just 7 km from the vibrant Olympic city and capital of Innsbruck, my grandparents Josef and Maria set out over 90 years ago to realise their vision of a small holiday paradise. It took two years to build the lake.

Houses were built and seeds sown since then. My parents Karl and Erna set up a campsite in the 1960s.

These days the holiday paradise of Natterer See is a location where guests from over 70 countries throughout the world spend their most valuable time of the year - their holidays.

I have set my sights on advancing my grandparent's vision and promise to do everything in my power to make your holidays with us an unforgettable experience. We all look forward to meeting you!

Kindest regards, Georg Giner and the Natterer See team

What guests say about us

M. Graham

The best site of our month's trip to Germany and Austria. The facilities are very modern and maintained to excellent standards. The views of the Alps from our caravan window was magnificent, well worth the extra 2 euros per day for the upgraded pitch. My compliments to the staff for being so friendly and helpful during our stay, their level of customer service was excellent, well done! Lovely area, plenty to do and see, we bought a 2 day tourist card for 32 euros and that was real value for money, especially the cable car trip to the top of the Alps.

K. Bracey

The sanitary facilities just have to be seen to be believed, they could be described as palatial. You climb up a ramp to the first floor of the reception building with stunning views, and enter a central area with sofas flanked by gigantic shower rooms with their own sink, changing area etc. There is even hot water at the external ground floor chemical toilet disposal point, what an excellent idea, Caravan Club please note! The views from the site are stunning, the pitches are a good size especially with a 14 foot van. The site bar and restaurant is very good and located on the far side of the site lake away from the pitches, although in early May the lake was being drained cleaned and the fish extracted and stored in a large tank, which was interesting for many campers. The whole set-up is very impressive, the staff were all excellent and the manager or owner is frequently seen riding around very hands on with his two wheeled electric sac barrow, ensuring all was well, he was even working in the lake. There are countless walks and cycle tracks from the site, Innsbruck is walkable especially if you use the electric tram back to the village to save the climb. The tram can be used to get further out and is a great experience, well worth the cost.

Ronaldowen

Superb site made even better by the improved / resited entrance / reception. The location couldn't be better, mountains all round combined with pure air! The staff are very helpful and a mine of information. We considered the site over a number of years but were always put off by the approach through the villages and the very difficult entrance. This changed in 2008 and so we have stayed here several times since.

The restaurant menu is varied and also excellent value. We have used only the lakeside pitches which have proved to be excellent both in situation and view. All new facilities installed 2009/10 - state of the art = brilliant! Last stay May 2010.
